STATEWIDE CURRENT SITUATION: Wildfire operations continue Friday into Saturday, and the largest fire continues to be the Eastland Complex. Texas A&M Forest Service (TAMFS) received 21 new requests for assistance with fire suppression operations on Friday. Elevated fire weather is forecasted for Central and South Texas today.

On March 21, Governor Abbott amended the Disaster Declaration, adding Blanco, Erath, Hood, Runnels, and Starr counties.

On March 18, Governor Abbott issued a Disaster Declaration due to an imminent threat of widespread or severe damage, injury, or loss of life or property in Brooks, Brown, Coleman, Comanche, Eastland, Grayson, Mason, Potter, Randall, and Williamson Counties.

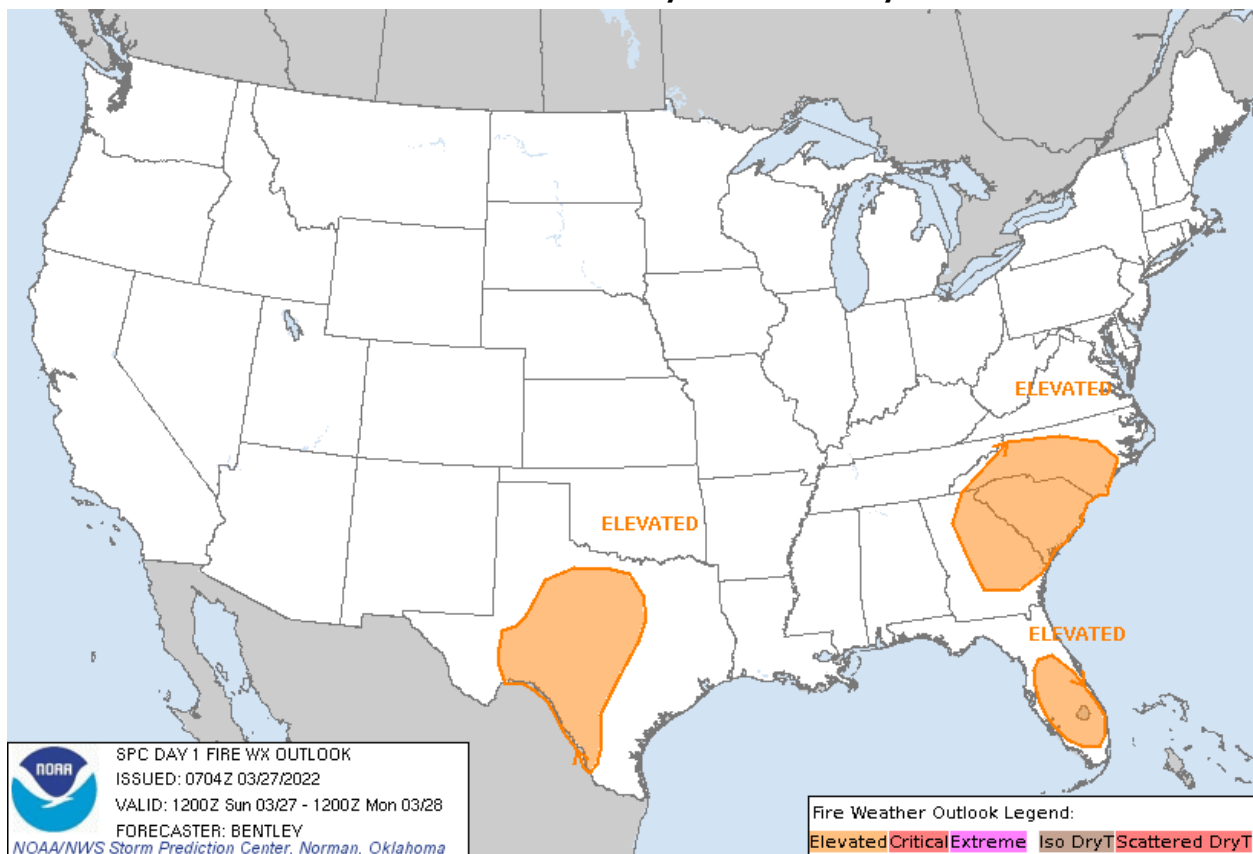

On March 16, Governor Abbott directed the Texas Division of Emergency Management (TDEM) to activate additional state resources as escalated fire weather conditions continue to impact the state this week. In addition, the Texas State Emergency Operations Center (SOC) is increasing readiness to Level II: Escalated Response for Critical Fire Weather Conditions. Representatives from key state agencies belonging to the Emergency Management Council reported to the SOC on Thursday, March 17 at 7:00 AM CT to assist in the state's response to fire weather conditions.

On March 15, Governor Abbott directed TDEM to mobilize state resources as Texas faces increased fire weather conditions this week. The National Weather Service warns high winds and low relative humidity has created heightened risk for wildfires in the western half of the state.

WEATHER:

NWS Fire Weather Outlook Valid: 6AM 3/27 to 6AM 3/28.

Day 1 Fire Weather Outlook: Carolinas and eastern Georgia...

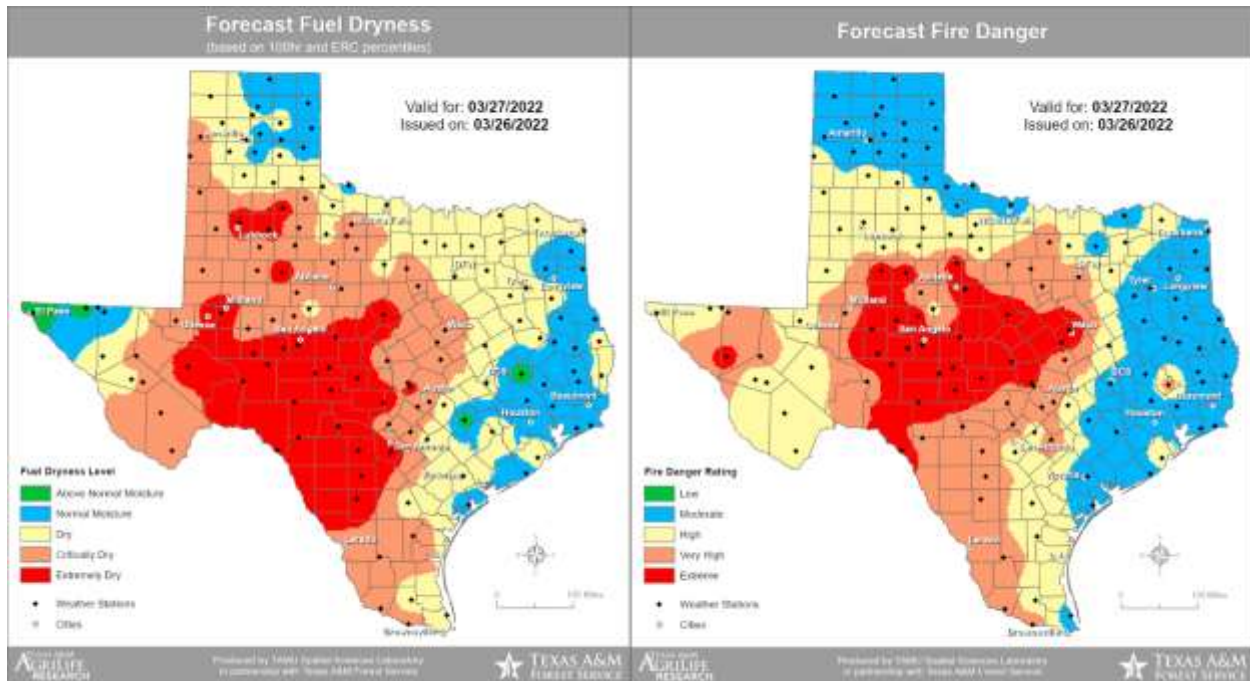

Offshore flow will persist across the Carolinas and Southeast today. Some surface pressure gradients will exist across the region, but winds are mostly expected to strengthen during the afternoon amid deep mixing below moderate mid-level flow. Surface winds are expected to peak around 15 to 20 mph. The deeply mixed boundary layer will also be very dry with relative humidity in the teens. Some rain fell across portions of this region earlier last week, but fuels are quickly drying amid the dry and breezy airmass. Therefore, despite slightly weaker winds than Saturday, fire weather concerns may be somewhat larger today due to the additional drying.

...Portions of Central and Southern Texas...

Southerly return flow will strengthen through the day Sunday. However, trajectories off the Gulf of Mexico will keep the greater low-level moisture across eastern Texas until after sunset when winds back and it starts to advect farther west. Winds of 15 to 20 mph are expected with relative humidity of 10 to 20 percent.
